

Asking someone to vote for you

Asking someone to vote for you is called a proxy vote

A proxy vote can be useful if you are away from home on election day or have a medical issue or disability

The person you choose to vote for you should be someone you trust

You will need to tell them who you want to vote for - this person must vote for the person or people you want to vote for

You can apply for a proxy vote by downloading and filling out the application form at electoral commission - vote by proxy

<https://electoralcommission.org.uk/media/6198>

You then need to scan and email your completed form to

electoral.services@camden.gov.uk

Or post it to us at

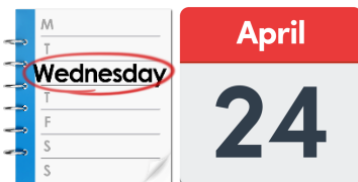

Electoral Services
Town Hall
Judd Street
London

If you can't download a form you can ask us for a paper version – you can call us on
